MANY FRIENDS PRESENT

At Funeral of Mrs. A. G. DePedro at Her Home on East Hill.

The funeral of Mrs. A. G. DePedro was held from her late home on the east hill Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Rev. J. W. Barnett of the Barre Congregational church officiating. Two selections were sung by Misses Lena Owen and Ollie Reed. The pall-bearers were a brother, Walter A. Boutwell; two brothers-in-law, J. W. Clifford and F. E. Dailey, and three nephews, Clarence W. Clifford, Carroll R. Fenwick and Allan C. Jameson.

The house was filled with mourning relatives and friends, who gathered to pay their tribute to a kind neighbor and loving friend. A large display of flowers testified to the love and esteem in which she was held by her many friends.

Among those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perrin of Berlin, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dailey of Calais and Walter A. Boutwell of Worcester, Mass. Other brothers, I. Dean of Barre, Mass., and W. Arthur of West Townsend, Mass., were unable to be present.

The following is the list of flowers: Wreath, "At Rest," husband and children; pillow, "Sister," father, sisters and brothers; roses, nephews and nieces; 41 roses, neighbors and friends; 41 white carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Willard and George Willard; narcissus, Elton E. Barrett; roses, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jameson, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Morehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Raymo, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Morehouse; carnations, Trow hill school; roses, A. E. Penniman; roses, E. G. Boutwell; chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bates; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Carr; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cutler; carnations, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nye; carnations, Mrs. Mason, Mr. Johnson; carnations, home department, Barre Congregational church; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Clark; carnations, Marjorie Smith.

Nearly all cities that had municipal Christmas trees in 1914 are going to have them again this year. Barre is in the list of new ones to attempt this out of doors festival. It is now expected that the tree will be erected in City park, where it will have a very conspicuous location. The woods will have to yield one of the biggest and stately of its products for the occasion. Representatives of one of the committees have already started scouting for the desired one. The task of erecting and decorating it will prove an interesting one. With the many hundreds of incandescent lights that are to illuminate the tree, it will no doubt resemble one big ball of fire. The committee on decorations is at work and has some pretty ideas worked out. No songs fill us with cheer as do those of Christmas time and the best of the Christmas carols will be sung by choruses of children and adults. Under capable directors, these choruses have already started rehearsing. In the city schools the children are learning along with their regular work special songs to be used in the tree program. There are those members of families who are unable to get back home more than one Christmas out of every two or three. Be sure that everyone is made aware of the first municipal tree in Homeland and of the organized cheer that is going to prevail hereabouts. They will get here all right.

"Comet," the sorrel horse driven by James R. Coutts of Academy street about town for so many years has stepped through its paces for the last time. Old age had its way with one of the fastest little clips that ever trod the turf and "Comet" is now browsing in the happy hunting ground. The sorrel one was 28 years old when the end came. It was purchased more than 21 years ago by the late C. W. McMillan and attracted considerable attention on its arrival in Barre, old horsemen remember, because its former owner turned over to Mr. McMillan a pedigree sheet of unusually imposing length.

Many Barre people will be interested to know that the National Holiness association has determined to hold a holiness convention in Vermont this winter, and decided upon Montpelier as being the most central place. It was hoped to secure a larger church, but it was necessary to accept the use of the People's Evangelical church on Northfield street, in that city. Services are announced for ten days, beginning Friday, Dec. 10, at 10 a. m., 2 and 7 p. m. The first service will be on Friday evening of this week at 7 o'clock. Rev. Will Huff of Sioux City, Iowa, a celebrated and powerful preacher, Rev. C. J. Fowler, D. D., president of the National Holiness association, and Rev. E. Hilton Post of Everett, Mass., are the workers sent. The public is cordially invited to attend this inter-denominational convention.

Electricians in the employ of the Consolidated Lighting company are busy these days installing motors in granite manufacturing plants where electricity is the power behind the blower systems used in removing dust from the sheds. Since early autumn manufacturers have adopted dust removing devices of various types, until there is scarcely a big plant in the Barre granite belt that is not equipped or being equipped with blower systems. A 150-horsepower motor with a high voltage that is being installed in Giudici Bros. plant on Willey street is to be used to propel a new compressor which the firm has purchased. Burke Bros. are putting in a 15-horsepower motor for their blower system on Smith street and the Presbury-Coykendall company is to use two five-horsepower motors. Others leasing or purchasing motors for dust removers are: General Borden company, five-horsepower; Novelli & Cologni, seven and one-half horsepower motor; Young Bros., five-horsepower. The West Second Street Tool Sharpening Machine company is to have two five-horsepower motors installed.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Kimono for Christmas. Knight's. The daintiest handkerchiefs at Fitts'.

A Barre man who has a penchant for comparisons repeats an interesting conversation with a resident of Maidstone, in the northeastern part of Vermont, where a number of local sportsmen maintain a hunting and fishing lodge. Asked as to the cost per capita of educating children in Maidstone, the man from that town smothered a slight chuckle and informed his interviewer that the only child of school age in the town limits was his own daughter, whose expenses incurred in attending school in a neighboring New Hampshire settlement were borne by the town. When he was informed that in Barre there are toward of 70 teachers on the payroll, the Maidstone man's rejoinder developed the information that Maidstone and three towns adjoining could not produce 70 children of school age. The four towns with a school population estimated to be less than 70 are Maidstone, Guildhall, Granby and Brunswick. According to the last census, the four towns have a combined population of 797.
